Frank Comment on SEIU Statement on the Responsibilities of Major Banks

Washington, DC – Rep. Barney Frank, Chairman of the House Committee on Financial Services released the following comment on SEIU’s statement regarding the responsibilities of major banks:

“Ensuring that widely-available and competitively-priced comprehensive banking services are offered to all of America’s working families is a major responsibility of the Financial Services Committee. SEIU’s statement of principles is a welcome reminder of the importance of that responsibility and underscores my belief that there remains work to be done. That is why many of the items mentioned in today’s statement by President Stern are on the Committee’s agenda for early next year.”
